CARNIVAL FESTIVITIES 2013

Traditionally the Carnival in Madeira begins with the "Festa dos Compadres" during the first weekend of February. The Fun Parade, the Ethnographic Parade and the trial the "comadre" and the "compadre" (a woman and a man), attract and lead to the Municipality of Santana, hundreds of people looking for moments of entertainment, fun and good mood.

On February 6th, in Funchal, takes off the Official Programme of Madeira's Carnival Festivities, this year under the theme "Madeira Magical Moments".

One of Madeira's biggest touristic billboards, this event has two major moments: the Great Carnival Parade, which is held on Saturday, February 9th, and the Fun Parade, a popular and typical Madeiran parade, opened to everyone interested in partaking, on Shrove Tuesday, throughout the streets of downtown Funchal.

CARNIVAL FOR THE YOUNGER ONES

And festivities are not real celebrations and parties without thinking about the younger ones participation! Just like in any other festivity, Carnival is no exception.

During this short-period with no school activities, there are many fun ways and suggestions to keep children entertained.

The Educational Services of House-Museum Frederico de Freitas promote from February 5 to 8 a curious initiative: "One hundred carnival play tricks" – targeted to children from primary and secondary education. The Madeira Ethnographic Museum, in Ribeira Brava, will be promoting "Face Painting" sessions and entertaining games in the garden's facilities to all of those who wish to visit and attend the museum on February 7. Back to Funchal, on the February 11, it's time for a workshop at Madeira's Regional Public Library, where children are invited to create their own carnival costume in: "Do you want to relive and dress up like they did back in the Middle Age period?!"
